Foreword

Seaman began the 1966-1967 school year as Unified District 345. Although the name was changed, Seaman remained the same, a place of learning, where one could communicate with others. The sophomore class was the largest that Seaman has ever had. With the variety of students, many different attitudes were found at Seaman.

Due to the escalating war in Viet Nam and other border conflicts, many senior boys were thinking of the draft call; however, some of them spent all their time concentrating on the girls' new mini-skirts and the many adventures of the Green Hornet.

We, the yearbook staff of 1967, proudly present this yearbook to you. We hope that it will meet your expectations, and that through the years you will glance through it and be reminded of all the pleasant and profitable times at Seaman High School.

"Oh, no, not again."

I don't believe a word of it.

It doesn't pay to be bad.

Dedication

The 1966-67 yearbook staff is proud to dedicate this edition of THE SEAMAN to Mr. Richard Lauffer, who has served Seaman for eleven years and is now leaving to take the position of principal at Desoto High School.

Mr. Lauffer came to Seaman in the fall of 1956 and taught world and american history, physical education, and general math. He was also freshman football, basketball, and track coach. Teaching psychology and sociology, Mr. Lauffer accepted the position of vice-principal in 1963.

His personal interest in and guidance of Seaman students has been of much value throughout his years as both teacher and administrator.

This is Mr. Lauffer's favorite hobby.

"I don't care as long as you do all the work."

Administration

Many of Mr. Frederick's responsibilities are unnoticed by students. Not only does he administer and supervise the instructional program and manage the personnel staff, but he is in charge of financial management, health services, custodial services, maintenance and repair and new equipment. In addition to general assistance, Mr. Lauffer is in charge of attendance student teachers, and the textbook rental program. He also plans extracurricular activities, and transportation to school functions such as class field trips and school sports.

Counselors Encourage Students

This is the year the guidance office outgrew its broom closet. Now upon entering the office, one steps onto a beige carpet. The room is furnished in rich walnut furniture, and multi-colored drapes hang at the windows. Mrs. Epps has decorated the office with some of her own art work. A long table, cabinets and files for records, and a large desk aid Mrs. Epps in her guidance work.

Mrs. Jernberg conducted a research project to compare the block plan to the extended plan of speech therapy. Instead of having three times as many students once a week for eighteen weeks, she saw the same students three times a week for six weeks. She feels the more constant repetition and emphasis promotes faster results.

The director of special services of districts 345 and 278. Mr. Hawks supervised three speech therapists and four psychologists. He was also in charge of homebound instruction of students with special needs, and supervised the six special education classes in both districts.

On Friday mornings Mrs. Shelby, the school nurse, visited Seaman and was available for consultation and instruction. Teachers referred students to the nurse, who helped with eye problems, diabetic problems, and other personal problems. A special cancer-check program, under the direction of Mrs. Shelby for senior girls and their mothers, was adopted by the Cancer Society.

Math Department Has Varied Roles

The math department of Seaman High School is one with varied roles. The classes range from Applied Mathematics to Trigonometry and Probabilities. The main purpose of the department is to prepare students for college. These classes also help students to learn practical applications of math for everyday use.

To meet the requirements for graduation each student must complete one year's study of mathematics. After this requirement has been met the students may continue their study by taking all the courses available in math.

Mr. Wagner begins another day of

Students Gain Understanding in Science

Through lecture sessions, reading and homework assignments, audio-visual materials and laboratory experiences, Mr. Willis tries to arouse scientific interest, induce the process of scientific thinking and methods, familiarize the student with scientific terms, and help him to develop laboratory techniques and the skill of exact observation and scientific terms. He also attempts to help the pupil understand and appreciate his environment.

In chemistry a student studies the nature of matter, the composition of matter and the change that matter undergoes in chemical combinations. A physics student studies the properties of matter and energy. Most of his work involves applying mathematical principles to physical principles. Earth science is a study of several science fields including geology, astronomy, paleontology, oceanography and meteorology. By studying earth science, the student becomes more aware of his physical world and the forces that shape and act in the physical world.

Mr. Glaze and Mr. Freel strive to help students gain understanding of the cell and its processes and to relate it to the plant and animal kingdoms. Lab experiments give students an opportunity to work as scientists in making observations, recording results, and drawing conclusions. Experiments whose answers aren't printed in a book, prove especially effective.

The driver's education classes combatted the school's parking problem by organizing the parking lot. Numbers, representing specific parking stalls, were issued to each student who drove to school regularly.

A trip to the Kansas Neurological Institute made psychology students more aware of mental and physical birth defects. Only one psychology and sociology class, with over fifty students was taught this year.

Simulation Spurs Problem Classes

This year's American history classes were divided into committees of 4-5 persons. These committees, headed by a chairman, designed the bulletin boards in the history room each week and handled much of the class recitation, giving reports on different periods of history. A complete overhead course and American Heritage filmstrips were used in the class study.

A better understanding of the government, democracies and dictatorships, was the goal in the American problems classes. The American problems and International Relations classes combined for simulation, in which fifty countries were represented in mock government. One group of American problems classes had a total of three instructors during the year. Mr. William Maddox, who started the year, was drafted, and Mrs. Emma Winkle filled in until the second semester.

You are the president of the United States

Language Students

Enter Concurso

The third year Spanish Class entered the Concurso at Wichita State University. Competing against four hundred students, Dan Matney received a one rating and Kay Liskey, a three in the prose category. In the poetry competition Debbie Beach, Lynn Wattenbarger, and Joanne Rome received 2's, and Linda Watson received a 3. This was the first time that Seaman foreign language students have entered such a contest.

The third year also toured the Nelson Art Gallery and viewed an unusual authentic collection of old and new Spanish paintings, a typical Spanish chapel, a monastery courtyard, suits of armor, and silver and gold handiwork.

Fine Arts Classes

Study the History of Art

During the year many interesting and unique works of art were put on display by the art department. Art is a class in which one can express his feelings. In the beginning classes, the students learn the basics of drawing. They studied the history of art from the beginning art to modern. The advanced classes chose projects to work on and the projects, jewelry, ceramics, oil painting and sculpture, were finished at the students' own speeds.

That's it, Larry! Give us a great big hand!

Far and Near

The Viking Band journeyed to Emporia and Manhattan for Band Days and marched in the Atchison Halloween Parade and other Topeka parades. Half-time entertainment for basketball and football games was provided by the band. Music was played for the Broadway Show, Bye, Bye, Birdie, by the pit orchestra, and the brass choir participated in the Christmas program. A pop concert and annual spring concert was presented, and Seaman sponsored the Annual Centennial League music clinic. The band toured the grade schools in the district, and as its final presentation, provided commencement music.

Choral Department Forms New Group

Under a new director, Mr O'Connell, the Seaman choral department consisted of a general chorus, concert choir and the Seamanaires. The concert choir appeared on television and radio.

A new Viking vocal group, the Seamanaires, originated this year. The group consisted of eight boys and eight girls. The Seamanaires practiced on their own time and performed for various groups in the community. Along with the concert choir, they participated in the pop concert, spring concert, and Christmas vespers. The Seaman annual musical, presented by music students was entitled BYE, BYE BIRDIE.

Typing II in progress

Mrs. England lends a helping hand

Mrs. England, Mrs. Woodburn, Mr. Pierce, and Mr. Berman - Business Education teachers

Again this year Seaman's business department continued to offer many courses to aid students in preparing for the business world

In the first year typing and shorthand classes, the students learned the correct and basic procedure for typing and taking dictation. Learning to type with speed and accuracy was the goal of beginning typing. Shorthand endeavored to bring the student's speed up to 80 words a minute by the end of the first year.

Typing II, referred to as office practice, consisted of many different units. Among these units were filing, interviewing, data processing, and an office practice packet with daily jobs. Shorthand II developed accurate dictation and transcription speed. Both advanced courses prepared students with experience for business jobs.

The essential grammar of the business world was taught to students in Business English classes. Business machines class acquainted students with the operation of basic machines used in business.

Vocational Arts Develops Skills

The Vocational Arts Department consists of Home Economics, Industrial Arts, General Shop and Special Education. Home Economics helps to develop an understanding of values in the girls. In the boys' class of Home Economics, they learn the basics of sewing and cooking. Industrial Arts is a class in which welding and working are taught. General Shop is directed toward retail work. The Vocational Education School has a variety of other Mr. Hundley

T & I Continues to Prepare Students for Future Jobs

Going into its fourth year, the Trade and Industry class continued preparing seniors for future jobs. In this class the students received on-the-job training. Trade and Industries consists of two hours

In the generally related hour the students study the laws and regulations that control business, employees, and employers. The relationship of the employee and the employer and their duties to each other are also studied. The studying of matters which deal directly with one's job is done in the directly related hour.

The yearbook staff begins to meet the deadline.

We want a book not necessarily bigger, but better than ever." The 1967 Yearbook staff echoed the cry of most Seaman staffs and then set out for the Yearbook Conference at Kansas University to study procedures and to "pick the brains" of the other schools and experts in the field of yearbook compilation.

On September 30, the Seamanites had a chance to exchange autographs at the annual yearbook varsity.

Council Expresses New Ideas for '67

Established just four years ago, the Student Advisory Council experienced a very successful year. The membership of the Council included the Vice President of each class in 1966-67.

The S. A. C. sponsored lyceums, slacks day, and student exchange days. New to the Seaman High School, exchange program was Topeka High. Dances sponsored by the Council were the Winter formal, "Moonlight on Ice," and the "Queen of Courts," both big successes.

This year SAC sent five students to Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, for one week. In exchange, they sent seven of their students to Seaman for one week. During that week the Sturgeon Bay students attended classes and visited local points of interest. This exchange was felt to be a profitable experience for all of those involved.

Did I say that?

Cheerleaders Display

High Enthusiasm

The past summer the varsity cheerleaders, accompanied by Miss Glick and Mrs. Rhea, spent an inspiring week at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, where they learned the techniques of a first-rate cheerleader. The cheerleaders were presented with the spirit stick for displaying the most enthusiasm of all the cheerleaders during the week. They also received a first place, second place, and three third place ribbons, and an honorable mention award in competition against schools from various parts of the United States.

This year the cheerleaders have presented satirical skits lampooning the opposing schools at all the pep assemblies and have worked on new cheers that they learned in Dallas.

The pep club sponsors Miss Glick, Mrs. Rhea, and Mrs. England, have contributed a great deal of time and effort to the various activities of the cheerleaders.

New Uniforms Inspire Pep Club

Because of the new uniforms, the Seaman Pep Club made a fresh appearance at this year's games. The outfits consisted of red blazers, blue shells and blue A-line skirts. Crests distinguished between Honor Pep and Regular Pep. Also new to Pep Club this year was Mrs. England, who joined Miss Glick and Mrs. Rhea as club sponsors.

With the big sophomore class entering, the Pep Club membership was increased to 167. A new event, was the Atchison High School Pep Club Convention which nine girls from Seaman attended.

Together with the Pep Club, the entire school cheered the boys to victory and success.

Chief Objective of #### Bookworms.

The main objective of the Bookworms Club was to read and discuss various books throughout the year. Two of the books read by the club were CRIME AND PUNISHMENT and DOCTOR ZHIVAGO. On February 9, the members went to K.U. to see SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL.

Besides reading and discussing books, the Bookworms undertook many money-making projects. Recipes were collected from the faculty and student body to make a recipe book. Writings composed by Seaman students were combined into a literary book. For the benefit of the student body, the Bookworms sold paperback books. All of these activities helped to make 1966-1967 a prosperous year for the Bookworms.

Spanish Club Has Impressive Year

The annual Christmas party was again held, as Spanish Club members exchanged novelty gifts and broke a pinata. A trip to Kansas City in May to see "The Sand Pebbles" was topped with dinner at the Casa de Montes.

Other activities were the Language Banquet and lunch at the La Siesta. To end the year, the sophomore and junior members sponsored a fair-well picnic to honor the seniors.

The Seaman Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, while designed to provide an education in future farm trade and management, gave its members opportunities to participate in agricultural contests. The Viking Ag. team consisting of Bob Baily, Jim Herman, Mark Hodson, and Alt. Jim Crawford placed first in the State wide dairy judging contest at Manhattan. The team will represent Kansas at the National next fall. Also the Seaman Chapter placed first in meeting procedure at the district leadership school and contest at Lawrence.

Individual awards were presented to Jim Herman for Star Farmer

Recently the boys returned from a vacation trip through Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, and Nebraska where they visited agricultural spots of interest.

Eleven students under the guidance of Mrs. Dorothy Woodburn, operated the Seaman High School Bank with great efficiency. The bank was open for use every school day from 11:25 a.m. until 12:20 p.m. During this time, good banking habits were learned by the students through use of the bank, while those in the banking class were taught the fundamentals of banking. School organizations, students, and faculty took advantage of the convenient banking facilities.

Seaman Harriers Tie for Second

The cross-country squad finished in a tie for second place in the Centennial League. Mr. Carlson remarked, "As a whole the team did real well, and I was encouraged by the Sophomore squad." The school record of 11:05 was broken by Duane Tenpenny with a time of 11:02.

Strenuous workouts, consisting of three to eight miles each practice, catapulted the cross-country squad to a successful season.

Vikings Capture League Title

For the first time in Centennial League history, Seaman's Mighty Vikings captured the league title.

Although ranked sixth out of seven in the pre-season coaches' poll, Seaman had little difficulty in overpowering their opponents.

"This year's team improved more than any team I've coached. It was a team that didn't realize they weren't supposed to win. They had much desire, determination, and pride in themselves, their team, and their school which makes a terrific combination to beat," remarked Coach Mosley.

Gymnastic's Team Has Rewarding Year

This year's boys' gymnastic team completed a successful season under the new coach, Steve Hundley. The team captured a second place in the city, a fourth in the Regional, and a third in the League meet sending gymnasts to the state meet. Eldon Puett remained undefeated on the trampo line; and Mike Thomas, a beginning gymnast, added much to the team's efforts.

The lettermen were Dan Sterling, Dan Redmon, Bob Forster, Eldon Puett, Wayne Meinert, Gerald Parks, and Mike Thomas.

The girls gymnastics squad finished the season with two girls, Linda Creek and Betty Brandenburg, lettering. The team consisted mainly of sophomores. Miss Glick was satisfied with the performance of this year's team. She looks forward to a successful season with several experienced girls returning to the squad.

Homecoming Royalty

"1967"

Queen Jo Hafner and King Dick Stalcup were crowned at the half-time ceremonies of the Seaman-Washburn game, October 7. The pep club formed a star, while the band formed a rainbow and played "Moon River" carrying out the theme, "Shower of Stars."

The candidates-Jo Hafner, Dianne Vandiver, Sherri Szafran, Sue Dillon, and Vickie Campbell-were escorted onto the field by Ed Sims, Duane Tenpenny, Dan Redmon, Dan Sterling, and Randy Pachosa. King Candidates were Dick Stalcup, John Prochaska, Alan Pollom, Bill Bateman, and Sonny Cutright.

New this year at the Seaman homecoming was a red velvet robe and tiara worn by the queen. Carrying roses for the queen was Brenda Hoch; Carol Lauffer and Tracy Willis carried the crowns. The robe was carried by Kelly Glaze; and Pam Carter, pep club vice-president, presented the queen with a bouquet of red roses. The B-team cheer leaders presented the attendants with long-stemmed red roses and charms, gifts from the pep club.

After the Viking's 47-7 victory, the royalty presided over the traditional homecoming dance in the gym. The Esquires, a rock'n roll band from Topeka, provided the music.

During halftime of the Seaman-Highland Park basketball game of February 18, Brenda Ostrander was crowned 1967 Queen of Courts. Her attendants, Pam Carter, Bonnie Langston, Jeannie Matney, and Cheryl Rickel, were escorted by Joe Eck, Charles Kessler, Marvin Henry, Bob Ribordy, and Gary Pence. The Queen was presented with a bouquet of long-stemmed roses and a charm, and all five girls were given red rose corsages. A dance sponsored by SAC was held from 9:30 to 11:30, where dancers enjoyed the music of the "Prisoners of Soul."

"Moonlight on Ice" was the theme chosen by the Student Advisory Council for the annual winter formal. The music was provided by the Topeka West Dance Band. The scenery was accented by a small foot bridge placed in the middle of the gym. A tiny brook ran under the bridge from the foot of the bandstand to a miniature pond. For all the students who attended, it was an evening that will long be remembered.

It seems that every one is having a good time - even the teachers.

The couples were not yawning - especially the freshmen - and singer Archie Morgan.

Jo H. too must be a little thirsty.

Never before has such romanticism been displayed.

If they only knew what was in here!

If they could hear me sing they'd put me on the stage

"Pacific Shores"

"Pacific Shores" was the theme chosen by the Junior class for the annual Junior-Senior Prom. Palm trees, grass huts and a fountain on a sandy shore made up the scenery. Music was provided by The Counts

No, no, no, don't wait, get ready!

Oh, I am! I can't believe that!

Did you get it, ya?

Look at that

Senior Sneak

Watch the birdie.
Very interesting.

Everybody smile.
Hey, gang, we're here.

Varsity Goers Get Out Pens

Now what did I do? I thought, 'I did it!'

It was a real come-out for nothing!

There's something happening!

May 1:

The annual French Club Banquet was held.

May 7:

"Pacific Shores" was the theme of this year's Junior-Prom. Music was provided by The Counts. Several Sophomores served the refreshments of punch and finger food.

May 12:

The annual Choral Concert was held in Seaman's gym. Mr. O'Connell directed.

May 18:

Seniors traveled to Kansas City for their senior sneak. The first stop was Swope Park where everyone walked around and looked at the animals, drank Cokes, and rode on the train. After lunch and a shopping spree downtown students had their choice of going to see "Grand Prix" or "Smokey and the Bandits." Later in the afternoon everyone loaded the buses and enjoyed a meal at the "Gold Buffet." Following dinner students were allowed to go bowling. At 11:00 p.m. the Vikings arrived at Seaman. Everyone was tired but ready to do it again.

Going Somewhere ? so is Washburn University.

No standing still for us. Just as you, Washburn wants to move ahead, to accomplish things.

Washburn is large enough to help you do just that...large enough to provide quality education but small enough to let you be an individual...large enough to provide all the excitement of sports, contests and social events but small enough to give everyone the chance to participate, to succeed.

And Washburn is continually expanding its horizons... just as you are. New facilities are springing up to accommodate your future and ours.

If you're going somewhere...write the director of admissions, Washburn University, Topeka. We can go along together.
